Housing is not just a roof over one's head, but an essential foundation for human development, social cohesion, and human dignity.

Our mission transcends aesthetic design; it focuses on social architecture and international cooperation as fundamental tools for spatial justice, climate resilience, and social inclusion.

In a world facing growing Housing Crises and urban inequality, ASF is dedicated to ensuring that the most vulnerable groups actively participate in building their own habitats. We work for cities and communities where dignity and sustainability are the cornerstones of every project.

In 2026, Barcelona will be the epicenter of the global debate.

As hosts of the GA of ASF International, we are not only participating, but also proposing an agenda that places equity and social impact at the heart of the profession.

«The best gift an architect or urban planner can offer, apart from a good heart, is their own skill, used to help society develop a respectful understanding of its cultural artifacts and a loving strategy for their development that suits the needs and way of life of its people»
